Provider Steering Committee

About the Rhode Island Crime Victim Service Provider Steering Committee

The Committee is comprised of numerous community-based and government agencies that provide an array of services to children, teens, adults, the elderly, and their families who have experienced crime. Our goal is to ensure victims, survivors, and their families are heard, respected, and have timely access to trauma-sensitive services and supports.

This guide contains general information to help you identify victim-focused services and resources that may be helpful immediately following the crime and, later, in the months and years that follow.

You can access RI Title 12-28 - Victim's Rights at:
<http://webservice.rilin.state.ri.us/Statutes/TITLE12/12-28/INDEX.HTM>

Crime Victims' Rights Act

Enacted in October 2004, the Crime Victims' Rights Act (part of the Justice for All Act) gives victims who make a timely report and who cooperate with law enforcement authorities in the investigation and prosecution the following rights in federal criminal cases (18 U.S.C. section 3771):

- The right to be reasonably protected from the accused.
- The right to reasonable, accurate, and timely notice of any public court proceeding or any parole proceeding involving the crime, or of any release or escape of the accused.
- The right not to be excluded from any such public court proceeding, unless the court, after receiving clear and convincing evidence, determines that testimony by the victim would be materially altered if the victim heard other testimony at that proceeding.
- The right to be reasonably heard at any public proceeding in the district court involving release, plea, sentencing, or any parole proceeding.
- The reasonable right to confer with the attorney for the Government in the case.
- The right to full and timely restitution as provided in law.
- The right to proceedings free from unreasonable delay.
- The right to be treated with fairness and with respect for the victim's dignity and privacy.

 The immediate family member of a deceased victim or a victim who is incapacitated as the result of the crime also has these rights.*

The Pursuit for Justice

In matters of truth and justice, there is no difference between large and small problems, for issues concerning the treatment of people are all the same.

- Albert Einstein (1879-1955)

Human progress is neither automatic nor inevitable . . . every step toward the goal of justice requires sacrifice, suffering, and struggle; the tireless exertions and passionate concern of dedicated individuals.

- Martin Luther King, Jr. (1929-1968)

Until the great mass of the people shall be filled with the sense of responsibility for each other's welfare, social justice can never be attained.

- Helen Keller (1880-1968)

Inspiring Hope

There is no medicine like hope, no incentive so great, and no tonic so powerful as expectation of something tomorrow.

- Orison Swett Marden (1850-1924)

Just as despair can come to one only from other human beings, hope, too, can be given to one only by other human beings.

- Elie Wiesel (1928-2016)

Hope is important because it can make the present moment less difficult to bear. If we believe that tomorrow will be better, we can bear a hardship today.

- Thich Nhat Hanh (1926-)

Advocating for Victims' Rights

We are way more powerful when we turn to each other and not on each other, when we celebrate our diversity ... and together tear down the mighty walls of injustice.

- Cynthia McKinney (1955-)

We are not to simply bandage the wounds of victims beneath the wheels of injustice, we are to drive a spoke into the wheel itself.

- Dietrich Bonhoeffer (1906-1945)

If you ever feel like you're just one person trying to change something, I promise there are hundreds, thousands, if not millions of people out there who feel the same way as you, who want to make a difference.

- Saira O'Mallie (1980-)
